PMAA OFFERS ONLINE RESOURCES TO SUPPORT FEDS DURING CORONAVIRUS PRECAUTIONS

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The Presidential Management Alumni Association (pmaa.us) is hosting a series of interactive webinars, colloquially dubbed "Couchella," for association members and federal employees to stave off telework isolation during this challenging time. PMAA recognizes the importance of maintaining connections with colleagues and coworkers, as well as the critical role that social distancing will play in responding to the current public health crisis.

To ensure that employees have access to tips and tricks for telework success, as well as knowledge sharing that will support their ongoing excellence in the workplace, PMAA will feature expert speakers on work from home strategies, project management, budget planning, new technologies for customer service, and more, as part of a virtual luncheon series.

See pmaa.us/couchella for the "Couchella" schedule of webinars and registration.

PMAA also encourages everyone to visit www.cdc.gov regularly for up-to-date COVID-19 resources.
